

Left panel illustrates acoustic round-trip travel time to discrete backscatterers as a function of distance traveled by the ship. Note how the hyperbolae become broader with increasing depth. Right panel shows hypothetical reconstruction of temperature. The dashed line indicates error introduced due to errors in estimated speed of sound.